November 28, 1969
Friday
London W. 8

Dear Harold —

Hello to you! How are you doing? I hope that all is well with you and that you aren't buried too deeply in work — though I'm fairly sure you must be. I hope also that you had a very nice Thanksgiving. For some reason the spirit of the day came to me very strongly this year. One must be grateful not only for blessings but the realization that many tragedies that could have happened didn't. That's being a bit negative in a positive way. (With more statements like that forthcoming I'd make a great politician but I know you understand what I mean.

I wanted to ask you to please send me some general directions on how to reach your home. My prof as I told you couldn't find it last time he was in the vicinity and I doubt if his navigational talents have improved (ha) I'd enjoy seeing you alot as my prof would as well. Could you please? (It may be your last chance to back out of what become an unbargained for experience. - just joking)

I'm looking so fowrod to returning home for awhile. It's only beginning to hit me that I'll actually be going soon and not sometime in the vague future.

You know, I went to Paris for a few days about three weeks ago and while Paris is very unique as a city the constructural similarities to Wash D.C. are quite extensive. It's a real shame that Washington is in such bad shape. It could have been such a beautiful city. A passing thought...

I know you're very busy as you are and

Dear Harold —

Hello to you! How are you doing? I hope that all is well with you and that you aren't buried too deeply in work — though I'm fairly sure you must be. I hope also that you had a very nice Thanksgiving. For some reason the spirit of the day came to me very strongly this year. One must be grateful not only for blessings but the realization that many tragedies that could have happened didn't. That's being a bit negative in a positive way. (With more statements like that forthcoming I'd make a great politician but I know you understand what I mean.

I wanted to ask you to please send me some general directions on how to reach your home. My prof as I told you couldn't find it last time he was in the vicinity and I doubt if his navigational talents have improved (ha) I'd enjoy seeing you alot as my prof would as well. Could you please? (It may be your last chance to back out of what become an unbargained for experience. - just joking)

I'm looking so foword to returning home for awhile. It's only beginning to hit me that I'll actually be going soon and not sometime in the vague future.

You know, I went to Paris for a few days about three weeks ago and while Paris is very unique as a city the constructural similarities to Wash D.C. are quite extensive. It's a real shame that Washington is in such bad shape. It could have been such a beautiful city. A passing thought...

So I hope you reply busy as you are and I shall see you in a few weeks.

Love, Cindy

TO OPEN SLIT HERE

TO OPEN SLIT HERE

SENDER'S NAME AND ADDRESS

Cindy Vanden Heuvel
54 Lexham Gardens
London W.8
England

AN AIR LETTER SHOULD NOT CONTAIN ANY ENCLOSURE;
IF IT DOES IT WILL BE SURCHARGED
OR SENT BY ORDINARY MAIL

SECOND FOLD HERE

Designed by Fritz Wegner MSIA
Printed by McCorquodale and Co. Ltd.

AIR LETTER

BY AIR MAIL

PAR AVION AEROGRAMME

Mr. Harold Weisberg
Route # 8
Frederick
Maryland 21701
United States